

ILLINOIS SUPREME COURT COMMISSION ON ACCESS TO JUSTICE
FORMS COMMITTEE AND SUBCOMMITTEES
POLICIES AND PROCEDURES
June 2023

The following information is provided as a resource for all judges, lawyers, court staff, and justice stakeholders who serve on the Illinois Supreme Court Commission on Access to Justice's Forms Committee and its Subcommittees. The statewide standardized forms initiative is governed by M.R. 25401, Illinois Supreme Court Rule 10-101, and the Illinois Supreme Court's Resolution on Standardized Court Forms. It is hoped that these guidelines will help you fulfill the important responsibilities you have been assigned.

GENERAL

I. Purpose

- a. The Illinois Supreme Court Commission on Access to Justice Forms Committee (Forms Committee) reviews and approves statewide standardized court forms to improve access to the court system for all court users, particularly those who are low-income and vulnerable.
- b. The goal of all standardized forms is to provide court users with plain language court forms and procedural instructions that will help them participate meaningfully in their court case. Forms and instructions will be drafted in a concise manner to help the public understand the steps necessary to participate in their case.
- c. All forms approved by the Forms Committee are required to be accepted by all Illinois courts and all local courts are required to stop providing or using local forms for a legal remedy once a standardized court form for that same purpose is published.

II. Responsibilities

- a. The Forms Committee serves as the leadership and reviewing body approving all statewide standardized court forms that are released by the Illinois Supreme Court Commission on Access to Justice.
 - i. The Forms Committee gives final approval before publishing forms.
 - ii. At the time the Forms Committee has reviewed forms they will have gone through a rigorous development process. Therefore, the Forms Committee should focus on legal sufficiency and any errors. Some preparation and review ahead of time may be required in advance of meetings to discuss form sets. Members will be asked to submit comments on forms ahead of time.
- b. Subcommittees made up of subject matter experts review form sets for substantive edits and finalize a version for the Administrative Office of the Illinois Courts (AOIC) to prepare in the design format to present to the Forms Committee for approval.
 - i. Subcommittee members will more actively edit and discuss changes to forms. Some preparation and review will be required in advance of meetings to discuss and edit form sets. Members will be asked to submit comments on forms ahead of time, as well as volunteer to more actively draft changes to forms.
 - ii. Annual review will be conducted, as applicable, with Subcommittees based on comments received by the AOIC throughout the year or due to changes in the law that affect published forms. AOIC staff will review all comments received for that year and a meeting date will be scheduled with the subcommittee if it is necessary. During that meeting, subcommittee members will review all the comments and determine if any necessary changes to the forms are required.

- iii. Subcommittee members are also tasked with informing AOIC of any legislative changes affecting their published forms to be reviewed as needed, or at least annually, along with any other comments that have been received about those forms.
- c. An AOIC staff person will serve on the Forms Committee and Subcommittees as a non-voting support person and resource. This person will be responsible for overall project management and administrative tasks, including maintaining rosters and contact information, training new subcommittee members, scheduling and hosting meetings, coordinating drafting with external consultants, ensuring forms are being drafted in a timely manner, being the liaison for court stakeholders on issues relating to the forms, and overseeing forms publication and updates.

III. Non-Disclosure Protocol

- a. Prior to a form reaching the public comment stage, no one shall share draft forms with any person who is not a member of the Forms Committee, a Subcommittee, or the AOIC staff person.
- b. The forms posted for public comment will carry a DRAFT watermark.
- c. Subsequent drafts shall not be shared with any person who is not a member of the Forms Committee, a Subcommittee, or the AOIC staff person until the form is published.
